

TAB. 64.—BERYX LEWESIENSIS. Length 12 inches. From Lewes chalk-quarries.

This is the most abundant of the Sussex ichthyolites; and is called Johnny Dory by the workmen. Detached scales are very frequent in the chalk of the South Downs, and also in that of Kent and Surrey. Some fine specimens of this species have recently been found in the chalk of Chatham and Maidstone.