

It was built of logs, with their upper ends leaning together, in the form of a cone, and nearly circular at the base; the interstices were filled with grass, leaves, and earth, in which some grasses had taken root, and were growing. It is represented in the tail-piece.

NATIVE HUT.