

CONTENTS.

	Page
The vast Sphere of new Ideas opened to Mankind by the Campaigns of Alexander	155
The Countries through which the Macedonians passed	157
The Natural Products first made known	158
Aristotle	160
The Men of Aristotle's School	163
The Comparison of Races	165
The Schools of Babylon	166
Alexander's Advance to the Land of the Five Rivers	168
III. Extension of the Contemplation of the Universe under the Ptolemies	170-179
The three great Ptolemies	171
The Caravan Trade, its Influence in extending a Knowledge of different Countries	171, 172
Proofs of the Commercial Relations maintained by the Egyptians	174
The Tendency of the Schools of Alexandria	174
The Foundation of the Alexandrian Museum	175
The Alexandrian Astronomers	176
The slow Advance of Astronomy from those remote Ages to its present high Stand	179
IV. Universal Dominion of the Romans	180-199
The Extent of the Area of the Roman Dominions	181
The few Observers of Nature who appeared at this Period	182
The Greatness of the National Character of the Romans	184
Diffusion of the Latin Tongue	185
The Expeditions undertaken by Asiatic Rulers	186
The Works of Strabo and Ptolemy	187
The Way-measurers in use among the Chinese	191
The Optical Inquiries of Ptolemy	193
The Botanical Gardens of the Romans	195
The Historia Naturalis of Pliny	195
Reference to the Influence exercised by the Establishment of Christianity	199
V. Invasion of the Arabs	200-228
Principal Momenta of the Recognition of the Unity of Nature ..	200
The Arabs	201
Natural Products of Arabia	204, 205
Nomadic Life in Arabia	207
Mental Culture of the Arabs	208
Arabian Geographers	213
The learned Men of Arabia	216
Astronomical Works of the Arabs	222
Science of Numbers	225
VI. Period of Oceanic Discoveries	228-301
The fifteenth Century, its Tendencies	228
The first Discovery of America	230