

	PAGE
Burn of Eathie. — The Upper Old Red Sandstones. — Scene in Moray,	190-210

CHAPTER XII.

The two Aspects in which Matter can be viewed; Space and Time. — Geological History of the Earlier Periods. — The Cambrian System. — Its Annelids. — The Silurian System. — Its Corals, Encrinites, Molluscs, and Trilobites. — Its Fish. — These of a high Order, and called into Existence apparently by Myriads. — Opening Scene in the History of the Old Red Sandstone a Scene of Tempest. — Represented by the Great Conglomerate. — Red a prevailing Color among the Ancient Rocks contained in this Deposit. — Amazing Abundance of Animal Life. — Exemplified by a Scene in the Herring Fishery. — Platform of Death. — Probable Cause of the Catastrophe which rendered it such, 211-222

CHAPTER XIII.

Successors of the exterminated Tribes. — The Gap slowly filled. — Proof that the Vegetation of a Formation may long survive its Animal Tribes. — Probable Cause. — Immensely extended Period during which Fishes were the Master-existences of our Planet. — Extreme Folly of an Infidel Objection illustrated by the Fact. — Singular Analogy between the History of Fishes as Individuals and as a Class. — Chemistry of the Lower Formation. — Principles on which the Fish-enclosing Nodules