

the localities referred to; or if in some cases I have departed from this rule, it was only where my intimacy with the original observers, and my opportunities of freely communicating with them, and of seeing their collections of fossils and works of art, made me feel competent to test the value of the evidence appealed to.

53 HARLEY STREET:

November 1863.