

be in the geological structure of a country, it must nevertheless, when viewed on the large scale, be merely local. The disturbance by which it was produced will usually be found to have affected a comparatively circumscribed region, beyond the limits of which the continuity of sedimentation may have been undisturbed. We may, therefore, generally expect to be able to fill up the gaps in one district or country from the more complete geological formations of another.

Fig. 325.—Double Unconformability at Cullen, Banffshire.
q, Quartzite; s, Old Red Sandstone; d, Post-Tertiary Gravels.